The reverse can also be true when people explain their thought processes to Logicians in terms of subjectivity and feeling. 1.5M ratings 277k ratings See, that’s what the app is perfect for: A Logician (INTP) is someone with the Introverted, Intuitive, Thinking, and Prospecting personality traits. Based upon Carl Jung’s theory of personality, the MBTI categorized personality types by their cognitive functions (intuition, thinking, sensing, and feeling) which can then be directed outwardly (extroverted) or inwardly (introverted).The hierarchical organization of these functions is what establishes each individual’s primary pattern of behavior. If you believe you are an INTP but think the above description is unfair, remember that no two INTPs are alike. They can efficiently work and play in isolated, quiet environments and will often prefer it. Being in social situations tends to drain their energy and they prefer interacting with a select group of close friends. Their willingness to get to the bottom of things, even if it means hurting some feelings, can come off as combative, antagonistic, insensitive, and quarrelsome. No two INTPs are the same. They prefer the inner world of ideas and reflection over the external world of people and actions. This introduction to the INTJ personality type, based on the Myers-Briggs ® Step I personality assessment, can help INTJs to understand how they interact with others, and what careers they might enjoy. So, we can be reasonably confident that an INTP will be average or higher than average on Openness, and an INTP is unlikely to be lower than average on Openness. The reality of personality differences is much more complicated than 16 types. They love patterns, and spotting discrepancies between statements could almost be described as a hobby, making it a bad idea to lie to a Logician. INTPs are noted for their thirst for knowledge, creative thinking and rational perspective. The vertical axis shows your style in terms of dominance, with a highly assertive style at the top (Assured-Dominant) and a highly passive style at the bottom (Unassured-Submissive). At their best, they are practical skeptics who are comfortable holding and sharing unorthodox, unpopular views. They are likely to approach interactions with others in a logical way, rather than relying on emotion. This complexity is why modern personality science uses dimensions or traits to describe personalities, rather than simple categories or types. People with an INTP personality type tend to be extremely analytical, objective, and logical in their behavior. INTPs are often genuinely interested in the world around them.
